Client description

Groupe Tabatabai is a French leader in post-loss intervention for complex damages, with strong roots in engineering, construction and innovation.

Deal description

Alantra advised Groupe Tabatabai on the carve-out of Talensis and its merger with Résiliens. Backed by Motion Equity Partners, the combined entity becomes a national leader in post-loss intervention services, addressing complex rehabilitations with an end-to-end service model.

A successful outcome

The merged entity will be backed by the private equity fund Motion Equity Partners, which has been supporting Résiliens since 2021. This strategic combination positions the new group as a market leader in post-loss intervention. Leveraging their complementary expertise, the two entities will offer a comprehensive range of services, from diagnostics and engineering to emergency interventions and complex rehabilitations following natural disasters, fires and other large-scale incidents.

CHARLES TABATABAI
CEO | TALENSIS

Talensis' innovative solutions combined with Résiliens' experience allow us to effectively address all types of claims, from the simplest to the most complex, while respecting environmental challenges. I am personally very proud that we are joining Résiliens, a group with whom we share the same values and a strong entrepreneurial culture."

FABRICE SCHEER
MANAGING DIRECTOR | ALANTRA

This landmark transaction, which underscores Alantra's expertise in designing and executing complex deals, including carve-outs, strategic mergers and capital restructurings. Despite challenging market conditions, our team was able to successfully safeguard the group's value and position it for long-term growth."
